

Be a Part of Pendleton Heights History

For $40 per submission, provide an old picture of the outside of your house or some other old Pendleton Heights building or scene to be included in a picture and reference book that will immortalize Pendleton Heights' architectural importance. In return, we will take a corresponding current picture as closely to the original angle as possible, which will be printed on the opposite page in the book, capturing a "before and after" effect.

We all know that our homes have so much rich character, and your contribution to the book will not only help this fundraising initiative, but will also preserve today's appearance of your home forever.

Note that the building does not still have to be standing. If you have a picture of a building in our neighborhood that has since been demolished, consider contributing the image for $40 to be included in the book, opposite a picture of how that location appears today.
